

BOOK NOW FOR TABLES FROM 4TH JULY

Gandhi Restaurant has been working hard behind the scenes putting in place plenty of safety measures to welcome back our customers, to make your restaurant visit experience as comfortable and easy as possible. The health, safety and well-being of our guests and staff is our number one priority and we have reviewed all our procedures, and we will continue to do so in line with latest government guidelines.

We have carried out a Covid-19 risk assessment that addresses each part of our restaurant and have made the necessary adjustments required for our business.

These include:

Staff Training, Cleaning & Hygiene

All staff will be trained in new enhanced regular deep cleaning procedures, regular sanitisation of tables, menus and surfaces.

There will be numerous hand-sanitising stations placed around the restaurant and one at entry, which we ask you to use when you come into the restaurant. You can use them any time during your time with us.

There will be no condiments or cutlery on the tables when you arrive, they will be delivered to your table once you are seated.

Personal Protection

Screens have been placed in areas around the restaurant for additional protection for our guests and our staff.

Social Distancing

Our staff have taken steps to ensure they maintain a safe distance within the workplace and social distancing will be observed. There will be clear signage placed around the restaurant asking guests to help observe social distancing and any directional flow markings.

It is recommended that you book ahead of your visit either by phone or online:
